FROM

The School District of Palm Beach County

The School District of Palm Beach County has gone online to auction off surplus inventory using a state-of-the-art system called Public Surplus. This system is available only to Government Agencies and Educational Institutions.

We encourage everyone to go to the site and view the auction. The auction is a great way to eliminate surplus items for the district and at the same time making these items available via offers from parents, teachers, and the general public.
