The collection development policy is annually evaluated and revised as necessary to provide guidance for implementing changes in the collection.

Collection development refers to the dynamic process of building and maintaining the Media Center’s entire materials collection in print, nonprint, audio, visual and electronic formats. This process includes the formulation of policy and procedures, budget allocations, needs assessment, selection, collection maintenance and evaluation, and resource sharing.

The Media Center will acquire up to date research technologies as funding is made available and the technology is deemed a usable supplement to the curriculum. In collection development, the policies are based on the American Library Association Standards of Intellectual Freedom which support “the right of every individual to both seek and receive information from all points of view without restriction”. It provides for free access to all expressions of ideas through which any and all sides of a question, cause or movement may be explored. One piece of the curriculum that helps developing responsible digital citizens

Collection development refers to the dynamic process of building and maintaining the Media Center’s entire materials collection in print, nonprint, audio, visual and electronic formats. This process includes the formulation of policy and procedures, budget allocations, needs assessment, selection, collection maintenance and evaluation, and resource sharing.

The Media Center will acquire up to date research technologies as funding is made available and the technology is deemed a usable supplement to the curriculum. In collection development, the policies are based on the American Library Association Standards of Intellectual Freedom which support the right of every individual to both seek and receive information from all points of view without restriction. It provides for free access to all expressions of ideas through which any and all sides of a question, cause or movement may be explored. This is just one piece of the curriculum that helps developing responsible digital citizens.
Collection Maintenance

Inventory

Per Florida Statute instructional material stored in the Media Center must be inventoried annually. PBCHS typically inventory part of its collection each year on a rotational basis, every 3 years. A tentative schedule is as follows:

- Year 1 Fiction
- Year 2 Non-fiction
- Year 3 All other materials

To facilitate the circulation and inventory process, Destiny Library Manager software has been made available to all schools. Destiny Library Manager software can generate numerous reports on circulation and average age of collection. These reports can be one indicator of the success of a library media program and were critical in the development of this document.

   d. Meet the personal needs and interests of students, including materials that: nurture the development of recreational reading/listening/viewing, cultural appreciation, and aesthetic values, represent the many religious, racial, ethnic, linguistic, and cultural groups in our society and reflect their contributions to the heritage and culture of our civilization; foster respect for the diverse races and abilities of women and men in today's society; and provide access to materials in heritage language as permitted by the META Agreement;

Stat. § 1006.40.

6. Management of Library Media Materials. -- Following practice and precedent, the school library media centers in Palm Beach County will arrange media and materials according to the Dewey Decimal Classification System. Library media materials acquired with funds from the General Appropriation Act of the State of Florida are to be catalogued and inventoried as part of the library media collection. Each book made available to students through a school district library media center or included in a recommended or assigned school or grade-level reading list must be selected by a school district employee who holds a valid educational media specialist certificate, regardless of whether the book is purchased, donated, or otherwise made available to students.

ii. For resources needing additional review by District Library Media Services, school-based certified library media specialists or principal designee will use PBSD 2671, attached hereto and incorporated as part of this policy, to solicit additional input.

d. Per HB 1467 [2022], § 1006.28 (2) (d), these procedures for developing library media center collections must:

The basis for the removal shall be documented. Removal procedures regarding an objection are based on Statute and/or School Board Policy S.1205 Objection Procedures for Instructional Materials.

e. The District may restrict access to school library media and reading list materials from students in grade Kindergarten through Grade Three if such materials instruct on sexual orientation or gender identity because HB 1557 (2022) prohibits such instruction.

8. Additional Selection Criteria
   a. Materials for use in school media centers or classroom library collections shall be carefully selected subject to the requirements stated above in Paragraph 7. A choice of materials that support the instructional program and promote reading shall be available to students and professional staff to allow for varying achievement levels, interests, and teaching/learning styles. Each school shall, in conjunction with the "Library Bill of Rights" (https://www.ala.org/advocacy/ifreedom/librarybill) of the American Library Association ("ALA"), State Statute, and District policy, to allow District procedures for the evaluator, selection, management, and disposal of library media materials in accordance with this Policy and Policy 8.1.285. Annually, the District requires using the selection criteria and the removal criteria referenced in this Policy to have library media specialists evaluate their collection in order to write a School Collection Development Plan to enhance their individual library programs that align to the District required components. They will share their plan with both their principal and District Library Media Services. Once the plan is approved, the school will post the school's plan on the school website. District Library Media Services will offer annual training on this process.
   b. The "Library Bill of Rights" referenced herein is to be used as a suggested guide. To the extent that there are inconsistencies between the guidelines in the "Library Bill of Rights" and State Statute, or District policy, State Statute and District policy shall take precedence and shall govern the selection, retention, and disposition criteria of library media materials for library media centers and classrooms.
   c. Selection of materials shall be consistent with the provisions in the School Board's collective bargaining agreement with CTIA relating to academic freedom and responsibilities--Article 5, Section K, to the extent these provisions are applicable.
   d. Moreover, consistent with Fla. Stat. § 1006.28 (2) (a) 2, library media materials must be selected to student needs and their ability to comprehend the material presented.
   e. In conjunction with the selection criteria above, employees holding a valid educational media specialist certificate (with the required training once available as stated in Paragraph 10 below) at each school location or if a qualified person is not employed at the school, by another District employee with those qualifications, shall evaluate and select print and non-print materials for the library media center using several of the criteria outlined below, as appropriate for the media type. Any library media materials containing pornography or otherwise prohibited by Fla. Stat. § 847.012 as harmful to minors may not be used or made available within any public school.
   f. Additional criteria used in evaluating and selecting all materials include:

referenced in School Board Policy 8.121.

xvi. GRAPHIC NOVELS AND PERIODICALS. In addition to the above criteria, all pictures are to be reviewed for appropriateness prior to placing the graphic novel or periodical into circulation.

9. Compliance
   a. Per HB 1467 (2022), school principals are responsible for overseeing compliance with school district procedures for selecting school library media center materials at the school to which they are assigned.

   b. Support toward compliance is available when the assigned school library media specialist(s) attend professional development/training hosted by the District Library Media team.

Library Bill of Rights

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

I. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.

II. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.

III. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.

IV. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.

V. A person’s right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.

VI. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

VII. All people, regardless of origin, age, background, or views, possess a right to privacy and confidentiality in their library use. Libraries should advocate for, educate about, and protect people’s privacy, safeguarding all library use data, including personally identifiable information.

Inclusion of “age” reaffirmed January 23, 1996, by the ALA Council

Although the Articles of the Library Bill of Rights are unambiguous statements of basic principles that should govern the service of all libraries, questions do arise concerning application of these principles to specific library practices. See the documents designated by the Intellectual Freedom Committee as Interpretations of the Library Bill of Rights.
The freedom to read is guaranteed by the Constitution. Those with faith in free people will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights.

We therefore affirm these propositions:

1. It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those that are unorthodox, unpopular, or considered dangerous by the majority. Creative thought is by definition new, and what is new is different. The bearer of every new thought is a rebel until that idea is refined and tested. Totalitarian systems attempt to maintain themselves in power by the ruthless suppression of any concept that challenges the established orthodoxy. The power of a democratic system to adapt to change is vastly strengthened by the freedom of its citizens to choose widely from among conflicting opinions offered freely to them. To stifle every nonconformist idea at birth would mark the end of the democratic process. Furthermore, only through the constant activity of weighing and selecting can the democratic mind attain the strength demanded by times like these. We need to know not only what we believe but why we believe it.

2. Publishers, librarians, and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral, or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what should be published or circulated. Publishers and librarians serve the educational process by helping to make available knowledge and ideas required for the growth of the mind and the increase of learning. They do not foster education by imposing as mentors the patterns of their own thought. The people should have the freedom to read and consider a broader range of ideas than those that may be held by any single librarian or publisher or government or church. It is wrong that what one can read should be confined to what another thinks proper.

3. It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to bar access to writings on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author. No art or literature can flourish if it is to be measured by the political views or private lives of its creators. No society of free people can flourish that draws up lists of writers to whom it will not listen, whatever they may have to say.

4. There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression. To some, much of modern expression is shocking. But is not much of life itself shocking? We cut off literature at the source if we prevent writers from dealing with the stuff of life. Parents and teachers have a responsibility to prepare the young to meet the diversity of experiences in life to which they will be exposed, as they have a responsibility to help them learn to think critically for themselves. These are affirmative responsibilities, not to be discharged simply by preventing them from reading works for which they are not yet prepared. In these matters values differ, and values cannot be legislated; nor can machinery be devised that will suit the demands of one group without limiting the freedom of others.

5. It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept the prejudgment of a label characterizing any expression or its author as subversive or dangerous. The ideal of labeling presupposes the existence of individuals or groups with wisdom to determine by authority what is good or bad for others. It presupposes that individuals must be directed in making up their minds about the ideas they examine. But Americans do not need others to do their thinking for them.

6. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large; and by the government whenever it seeks to reduce or deny public access to public information. It is inevitable in the give and take of the democratic process that the political, the moral, or the aesthetic concepts of an individual or group will occasionally collide with those of another individual or group. In a free society individuals are free to determine for themselves what they wish to read, and each group is free to determine what it will recommend to its freely associated members. But no group has the right to take the law into its own hands, and to impose its own concept of politics or morality upon other members of a democratic society. Freedom is no freedom if it is accorded only to the accepted and the inoffensive. Further, democratic societies are more safe, free, and creative when the free flow of public information is not restricted by governmental prerogative or self-censorship.

7. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, they can demonstrate that the answer to a "bad" book is a good one, the answer to a "bad" idea is a good one.

Per Fla. Stat. § 1006.28(2)(a)(2), if the School Board “finds that an instructional material does not meet the criteria under sub-subparagraph e. or that any other material contains prohibited content under sub-subparagraph h., the school district shall discontinue use of the material for any grade level or age group for which such use is inappropriate or unsuitable.”

e. Objections filed by a parent or emancipated student shall be heard in the school in which the student is registered. If the parent has children at a ‘‘parent schools’’ in Palm Beach County, then the objection must specify which school(s) the objection pertains to and it will be heard in that/those school(s). If the objection party is not the parent of a child in the School District, the objection will be assigned to the appropriate school within the boundary corresponding to the residence of the objecting party for review. The material is located at that school or to the school in close proximity where the material is located.
2. School Level: Informal Complaint
   a. Any complaint arising out of the use of a material in a school shall be registered in writing with the principal of the school. Within five school days of the receipt of the complaint, the principal and/or his/her designee and the appropriate staff member(s) shall meet with the complainant to explain:
      i. the school's selection procedures for these materials;
      ii. the criteria used for the selection of these materials;

Failure to sufficiently fill out the form along with complainant's signature will result in the rejection of the form and no formal review process under this subsection will be initiated.
   d. A challenge to the same material(s) by multiple challengers within one school can be consolidated into one challenge for consideration by the School Materials Review Committee, Principal, Superintendent, District Material Review Committee, and School Board (the reviewing persons and entities) as set forth in the below proceedings.
   e. A challenge to multiple materials will require additional preparation time for the reviewing persons and entities set forth below. A challenge of more than five materials will add an additional two (2) days per item to the time deadlines for the school or District actions that are specified within this Policy.
   f. For materials used in that school, the form and the material in question shall be studied by a School Materials Review Committee appointed on an ad hoc basis by the school principal.
