Building Non-Academic Skills

How do you build students’ skills outside of academic subject areas? Include descriptions of:

- Build coping skills;
- Address social/emotional needs;
- Foster a growth mindset;
- Teach resilience and persistence;
- Promote healthy habits;
- Promote positive behavior;
- Develop students organizational skills;
- Build strong study habits;
- Build character; and/or
- Develop a sense of service for others.

1. Building Students’ Non-Academic Skills

Our school Behavior Health Professional and Co-located Therapist host "Counselors' Corner" every Wednesday on the morning news. They present strategies for coping, address social emotional needs and foster a growth mindset. We have small, need based counseling groups to teach resiliency, problem solving and persistence. They also present lessons to promote social and emotional health. We have a schoolwide positive incentive program, "Student of the Month," where each month a character-building value is highlighted, taught and rewarded. Our schoolwide Dolphin Dollar program rewards individuals for modeling good behavior and helping others. We have a Kindness Club that focuses on service to others.

SBT/MTSS Implementation

Describe your implementation of a tiered model of support (SBT/MTSS):

- Identify students for tiered support;
- Determine supports needed;
Implement support; and
Track students' progress.

1. SBT/MTSS Implementation

The School-Based Team (SBT) meets weekly to review the Multi-Tiered System of Support for both academics and behavior. The team uses the School District's Decision tree in conjunction with data tracking forms, classroom, district and state test scores, to make determinations on student support (Core, Supplemental, and/or Intensive). Mentoring, tutoring, and other services students receive (e.g., Guidance, 504 recommendations, counseling groups and co-located therapy) are also reviewed. The focus of support is determined based on all data available and an instructional plan for each student is created. There are three levels of support in the MTSS framework used that include: Core: Every student receives high-quality, standards-based instruction from a certified teacher at each grade level. Students participate in formative and local assessments to determine any academic support that may be needed. During Core instruction, teachers provide small group and individualized instruction differentiated for each child. All students receive instruction in social and emotional learning skills as well, and students who are experiencing behavioral challenges are given additional support by their teacher based on the need. Supplemental: If students are identified by the District's Intervention Decision Tree, or are not responding to differentiated instruction in the Core, the teacher will refer the student for academic or behavioral needs to the SBT. The SBT Team will problem solve to determine the current level of support in the Core and determine if the student needs additional supplemental support. If the determination is made either by the Decision Trees or the SBT team, students identified will receive this support in addition to their Core instruction. This support may be provided by the classroom teacher in the classroom or by another certified teacher who works with other children with similar needs. This "supplemental support" is progress monitored with a frequency dependent on the intervention, using either an embedded progress monitoring tool from a research-based intervention or a curriculum-based measure. If the student responds to the intervention, the student will continue until they reach the pre-determined "goal". If the student meets the goal, the supplemental level of support will be discontinued. If the child does not respond to the intervention, the SBT Team will review the data that was collected and decide to continue, modify, intensify or discontinue the level of support based on student response to the intervention. Depending on data, it may be determined that additional weeks of intervention are necessary prior to making any further decisions. It may also be decided that support needs to be increased to an "intensive level". Intensive: At this level of "intensive" support, in addition to the supplemental support, students may receive any 2 of 3 modifications to the intervention: additional time, smaller group size and more narrow focus for intervention. The increase in intensity may also involve the level of training of the professionals providing instruction or intervention. This level of support must be progress monitored weekly with a tool aligned to the intervention. If the student is making adequate progress, the intensive intervention may continue or be lessened to a supplemental level. Student response will be reviewed again as determined by the team. Students who do not achieve the desired level of progress in response to these targeted interventions may then be referred for a comprehensive evaluation and considered for eligibility for special education services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004 (IDEA 2004). The data collected during the MTSS process are included and used to make the eligibility decision. Students receiving support have their progress tracked through Progress Monitoring Logs and then graphed throughout the review to analyze student response and make necessary changes to the plan. Progress Monitoring Plans (PMPs) are created and shared with parents for any child identified to have a deficiency in a core subject area.
Provision of a Well-Rounded Education

How do you ensure all students are provided with a well-rounded education including enrichment opportunities? Describe:

- The process used to determine core instructional needs (data).
- How the school ensures instruction is aligned to standards.
- Courses/electives that are not considered core-content.
- Courses/electives that are focused on job skills.
- Opportunities to extend learning time.
- How the school connects classroom learning to real world applications.
- How extra curricular opportunities enrich the students’ education.

*The term “well-rounded education” means courses, activities, and programming in subjects such as English, reading or language arts, writing, science, technology, engineering, mathematics, foreign languages, civics and government, economics, arts, history, geography, computer science, music, career and technical education, health, physical education, and any other subject, as determined by the State or local educational agency, with the purpose of providing all students access to an enriched curriculum and educational experience. [ESSA, section 8101 (52)].

1. Transition to Elementary School

Two Regular Ed. VPK units are held at Palm Beach Gardens Elementary. Around 40 students attend this program. Recommendations for evaluations from Headstart programs and Kindergarten Round Up allow for better placement of incoming Kindergadeners. This year, the school district initiative included Kindergarten readiness kits to give to all incoming kindergartners. Kindergarten pre-screenings for incoming students are held at the end of the school year and at the beginning of the school year during preschool week. School tours are available for families. PBGE VPK students and neighborhood Pre-K schools' students are given the opportunity to meet Kindergarten teachers. Parents are informed about Staggered Start and sign up to days convenient for them when they matriculate their children.
